

Finding a Vaccination (Flu) Provider and Seeking Care

Aetna Whole HealthSM members – You should get flu shots from your primary care physician (PCP). If you can't get them from your PCP, you can go to an in-network walk-in clinic or retail pharmacy location. Please check to see if the provider is in network with your plan before getting your flu shots. Some of the retail locations listed below may not be in the network for your plan.

Flu shots and other vaccine services are available at many locations within communities, such as senior citizen centers. You may also be able to get these vaccinations from your doctor or at public health clinics.

¹ List is not all inclusive and is subject to change

² Fluzone High-Dose is approved for use in people 65 years of age and older. As with all flu vaccines, Fluzone High-Dose is not recommended for people who have had a severe reaction to the flu vaccine in the past.

³ Aetna covers the shingles (zoster) vaccine for members age 50 and older. CVS and other pharmacies or retail clinic providers may require a prescription for the vaccine for members who are ages 50-59.

You should not go to an emergency room/urgent care for vaccinations. Vaccinations are not an emergency/urgent service

- While Preventive services are a covered benefit under most Aetna plans, check your plan documents or call the Members Services number on your Aetna ID card to verify your coverage.
- Remember to confirm with the provider that they accept your medical plan prior to receiving services.
- Not all pharmacies listed below will carry all of the covered vaccines and vaccines are subject to availability. For these reasons, we recommend you contact your local pharmacy to confirm.
- Please note that some vaccines have age restrictions and Aetna coverage does not override such restrictions.
- Your pharmacy may require a doctor's order/prescription in order to receive your immunization. We recommend you contact your local pharmacy to confirm.

Corporate flu clinics

Aetna also contracts with companies that provide flu vaccines at worksites. Check with your employer to see if any clinics are planned where you work.

California Aetna Medicare Advantage members and California Non-HMO members can receive their flu shot from any Aetna participating provider contracted for these services, including the providers listed above.

California (CA) HMO - Members are covered under their PCP capitation or in network walk-in clinics for the seasonal flu vaccine.

- No exceptions will be made if the member chooses to get a flu shot at a corporate/workplace clinic or anywhere outside of PCP capitation.
- Claims for flu shots for these members outside of PCP capitation or in network walk-in clinics will be denied.
